

GREGORIAN

ROCK

Gregorian Rock "Fire"

Gregorian Rock combines ancient with modern to create a serene, yet pummeling sound.

It sounds like Neal Morse, Skillet, or Iona, half in Latin.

From the opening acapella voices of "Consuming Fire", to the gently descending piano of "In Terra", with all the musical fireworks in between, this album commands the listeners attention in beautifully reflective ways. While there is considerable diversity from song to song, this album has a singular, thematic feel.

"Fire" was created with the Grammy nominated guitarist, Phil Keaggy, who contributed his skills on three of the tracks. Phil described his experience of playing on these tracks this way: "It was pure delight playing on these pieces. They are majestic, funky, and intelligently composed."

If you're into creative, boundary pushing music or just like to take the plunge on something you've never experienced before, "Fire" will be just the thing.

Available on iTunes, Amazon, CD Baby and all the rest.
